

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's find out how the auction went!

Learning Outcome

Describe necessity, duty, advice, or strong disapproval in written and spoken situations according to work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about social issues and moral dilemmas.
- I can make polite requests using if.
- I can express what is necessary.

Ask your partner:

- When was the last time something or someone exceeded your expectations?
- When was that last time something or someone failed to meet your expectations?

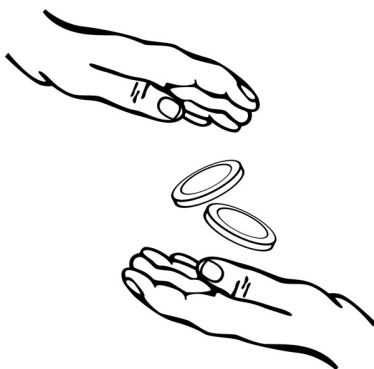

Let's Explore!

Amy gets caught off guard by the results.

* To get "caught off guard" means to be surprised.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Candice: Amy! Just the person I was looking for. If you could follow me, please.
- Amy: Right behind you.
- Candice: So, did you hear the numbers from the auction?
- Amy: Yeah, I guess you must be a little bit disappointed. I heard someone say $37,000. Not bad, but not exact--
- Candice: If I can interject for a moment. We didn't raise $37,000, we actually exceeded our goal by $37,000. We raised $137,000 total!
- Amy: Amazing, if I may say so myself! I guess I shouldn't be surprised, the turnout was really spectacular.
- Candice: You ought to take some of the credit. Your speech really shed light on a very dire situation. You really did a good job of getting the audience to empathize with the children of Lesotho. If you don't mind, I'd like to use you as our official spokesperson.
- Amy: Wow, it would be an honor.
- Candice: You have got to take some time to celebrate. Why don't you take the afternoon off?
- Amy: I ought to, but I can't. I really have to get these tax receipts out.
- Candice: I don't think you have to do that for the small donations. It's really just for the larger amounts.
- Amy: Actually, if you'll take a look at this. It says right there in the tax code: "A receipt shall be issued for any donation exceeding $10."
- Candice: It looks like you're on top of things, as always. I guess that's it, then.
- Amy: If I could just add one more thing. I really am indebted to you for mentorship. You've really taught me a lot these past few weeks.
- Candice: It's been a pleasure having you. In fact, I don't know what we ever did without you!

Let's Practice!

Amy and Candice talk about what is necessary.

Instructions: Read the clues on the left. Select the correct box in the table. There is only one answer per clue. Practice saying the clues aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

	Obligation, subjective opinion	Obligation, objective opinion	Strong necessity	Formal rules and regulations
1. I guess I shouldn't be surprised, the turnout was really spectacular.
2. You ought to take some of the credit.
3. You have to take some time to celebrate, why don't you take the afternoon off?
4. I can't. I really have to get these tax receipts out.
5. A receipt shall be issued for any donation exceeding $10.

Let's Practice!

Amy and Candice know that a little politeness goes a long way.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Write each sentence in the correct order below. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. If I / can interject / for a /moment, / we raised / much more / than / $37,000.

2. If I / may say / so myself, / it is / amazing how / much we / raised.

3. If you / don't mind, / I'd like / to use

4. you as / our official / spokesperson.

5. If you'll /take a / look at / this, /the tax / code says / we need / to issue / a receipt.

Extension Activity

Create an infographic of surprising statistics.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Choose an international cause (i.e. save the whales, poaching in Kenya, homeless in New York City).
- Find at least ten statistics to show why supporting your chosen cause is necessary.
- On a blank piece of paper, create an infographic (sentences and pictures) displaying your statistics.
- Present your statistics to a classmate.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I research an international cause.

☐
☐

I record statistics.

☐
☐

I create an infographic about a social issue.

☐
☐

I present my infographic to a classmate.

☐
☐

Target Words

- to exceed (verb): to go past a limit
e.g. We actually exceeded our goal by $37,000.
- turnout (noun): the number of people who attend an event
e.g. I guess I shouldn't be surprised, the turnout was really spectacular.
- to shed light on (expression): to clarify
e.g. Your speech really shed light on a very dire situation.
- to empathize (verb): to understand how someone else feels e.g. You really did a good job of getting the audience to empathize with the children of Lesotho.
- tax receipt (noun): a piece of paper that proves money has been donated e.g. I really have to get these tax receipts out.
- indebted (adjective): extremely grateful
e.g. I really am indebted to you for your mentorship.

Learning Points

If and Politeness

You use the conditionals to talk about real or unreal possibilities in the present or future.

In speaking, you often use if with will, would, can or could to make a polite request:

If we can move on to the next item, we'll get through the list in no time.

If you could just wait there for a moment, I'll be right with you.

If you'll come this way, please.

Look at the chart for some other expressions with if to express politeness:

Phrase	Example
If you don't mind ...	If you don't mind, I'll turn off the heat.
If it's OK with you ...	I'll wait here, if it's OK with you.
If I may say so ...	If I may say so, you look amazing in that dress!
If I can ...	If I can help, I would be happy to.
If you would ...	If you would come this way, your table is over here.

Examples:

- Amazing, if I may say so myself!
- If you don't mind, I'd like to use you as our official spokesperson.

Learning Points

Degrees of Necessity

You use modals to express necessity. Each modal implies varying degrees of necessity.

Look at the chart below for information about each modal and the degree of necessity it implies:

Modal	Meaning/Degree of Necessity	Form	Example
must	very strong necessity; often used for subjective necessity	must + verb (Negative form mustn't changes meaning to prohibition)	I guess you must be a little bit disappointed. have to	strong necessity; often used for necessities imposed on us	have to + verb didn't have to + verb	I really have to get these tax receipts out. have got to	more casual for strong necessity	have got to + verb Not used in questions	You have got to take some time to celebrate. should	obligation; subjective opinion	should + verb Past: should + have + past participle	I guess I shouldn't be surprised, the turnout was really spectacular.
ought to	obligation; objective opinion	ought + to + verb Past: ought to + have + past participle	You ought to take some of the credit. shall	formal rules and regulations	shall + verb No past tense	A receipt shall be issued for any donation exceeding $10.